The Spring session of this Institution closed on last Triday May the Stat. We were present on the occa-tion, and can testify that the exercises were highly enteriniting, edifying and creditable to the partici-parts. They consisted of declarations by the young erportion of the male pupils, compositions by the ung ladies, and orations by the young gentlemen The disting of the compositions was alegant, exhibi-ring the pather and tendermess of woman's nature, and they were read with the atmost gracefulness and clearmes of enunciation. The young men handled their subjects with masterly skill, showing a wife range of information, and impressed their ideas upon the minds of the audience by a foreible and carnest deisery. We heartily commend all the pupi is for the samer in which they aquitted themselves.

After the exercises were conclused, Professor Henderson Presmelt, the Principal amounced that the school would be discontinued. Larger and more luviting fields of labor were presented to his willing best and hands; that he abandoned the education desterprise at that place with great rejuctance but the School had grown to such proportions that more sensitions buildings would have to be erected if it straid continuo, and this could not be done under exative circumstances.

We are extremely sorry that Prof. Presnell ha sees it to leave this place and go elsowhere. He has arcinglished a good work, and its results are manirest and we hope duty approclated. He founded Laur of Hill under many and great discouragements. At intit was a feeble light shedding here and there a gleam amid the opposing powers surrounding it, but by his unfiring industry and skill as a teacher, it has came a turch of truth and knowledge casting its reinforme into every part of our immediate country.

The varied scholarship of Proffessor Pressell and his practical knowledge of School discipline pre-smin ently qualify him for a charge in our largest Institu tions of learning, and to those who may require a Profesor we most cordially recommend him besides his abilities as un instructor, as a christian gentleman who leaches and practices the precepts of religion,

First, my Thresh ing Machine (Russell's) will do more work and save more grain, with a lesser amount of team and labor, than any other in use.
